Central Moloney Organizational Announcement Kent Gossage, Regional Sales Manager, Western Division

Central Moloney, Inc. is pleased to announce the promotion of Kent Gossage to the position of Regional Sales Manager for our Western Division.

In his new position, Kent's responsibilities will include directing Central Moloney's western region sales efforts and managing the sales representative network that is part of this territory. He will be reporting directly to me.

Kent's background at Central Moloney comprises over 27 years experience starting in manufacturing at our Components Operation and then being named Quality Control Supervisor. From that position, he has been promoted several times holding the positions of Manager of Quality Assurance at the Transformer Operation from 1997 to 2006. Kent was instrumental in the development and implementation of Central Moloney's ISO quality program and was certified as an ISO lead auditor. Most recently, he held the position of Training Manager for the Company.

He is a lifetime resident of Redfield, Arkansas, involved in the community's youth sporting events and an active member of Redfield Missionary Baptist Church. Kent and his wife Jennifer have two sons, William and Joshua.

Kent will build on Central Moloney's tradition of excellence as he leads our sales organization in the Western Division to higher performance achievements. We honor the legacy left by his predecessors, and we celebrate what he will become as our new future unfolds. Please join me in congratulating Kent on this promotion and extend him your total support in this new position.
